Students should not have conflicts (including SAT and ACT tests, college visits, doctor appointments, etc.) during the following:

- Required rehearsals and performances (listed in bold print)
- Class periods during the week of a major performance
- Musical rehearsals on Saturdays during the month of January
- UIL Concert and Sightreading Contests

Please consider carefully the SAT and ACT testing options in planning your yearly calendar. This has become an increasing problem as students opt to take these tests multiple times.

Of equal concern are the scheduling of college visits and music auditions at the college level during the months of January, February and April. Please communicate with the choir directors those trips you might be considering during these months as there are required activities which, if missed, could result in a significant grade penalty. Most times we are able to arrive at a workable solution for everyone when conflicts are shared openly and anticipated early.
